

Brown Bag Lunch & Early Bird Programmes

Brown Bag lunches and Early Bird Programme sessions are designed to meet the needs of a busy work-force who may have to cancel attendance at training courses at the last minute, have flexible working arrangements and a supportive management structure.

The sessions provide tasters of all of the Learning & Development programmes that Kuhnke Communication can provide in full to your organisation, offering attendees quick tips and advice prior to participating in the full course. The taster sessions can be designed to bring together gender specific audiences, teams, functional groups or targeted grade of employees.

The programmes also act as refreshers sessions or 'clinics' for individuals who have attended a course and need a quick reminder or to address further questions on a specific aspect of their learning.

Clients report that Kuhnke Communication's Brown Bag Lunch & Early Bird Programmes are a low cost way of providing an added benefit for their work-force. These mini-programmes keep knowledge fresh, develop employee engagement at all levels and enhance communication and team work throughout the organisation.
